MANAGERS SURVEY RESULTS

APRIL 23th

caceis
INVESTOR SERVICES

A great participation to the survey !

611 respondents : 55% of the Managers

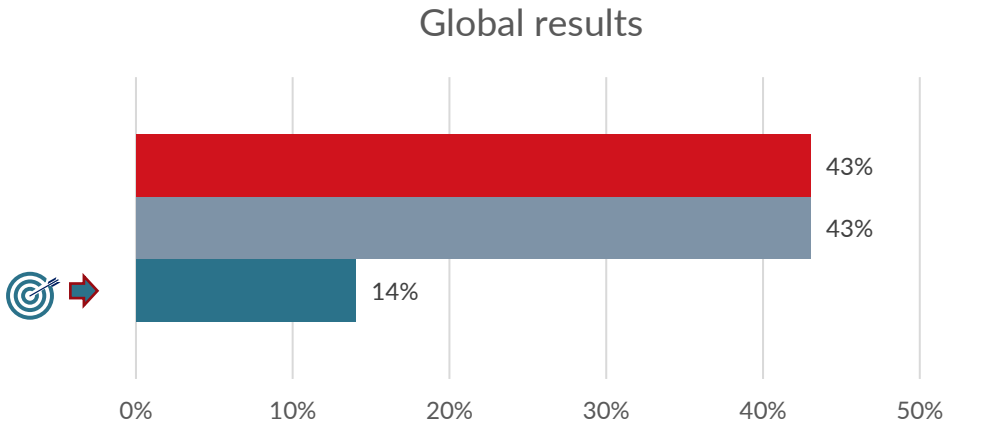
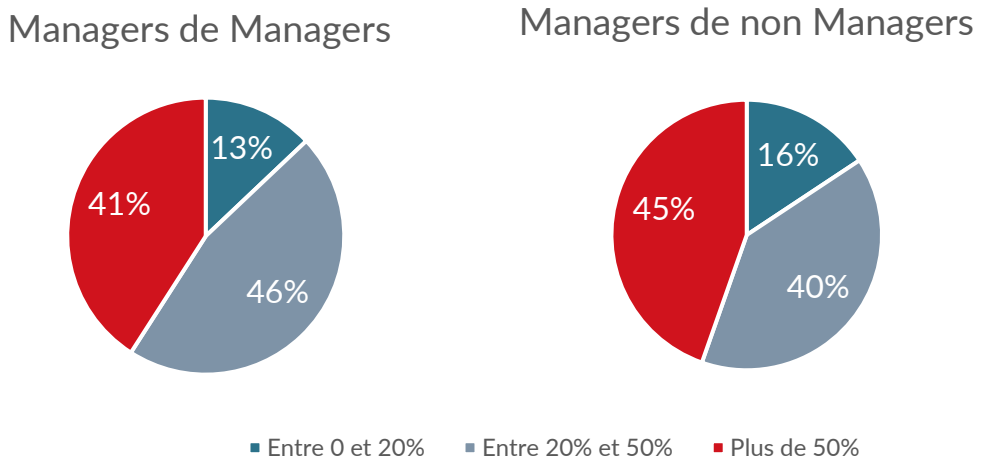
Time dedicated to activities not related to management: only 14% reach the target





80% of the manager's time dedicated to team development, performance and business management

Target 2025

SOME EXAMPLE OF MENTIONNED REASONS WH :

Understaffing and overwork:
- Lack of resources / managerial relay to manage workload.
- Need to replace employees/project managers (absences, leave, etc.)

Specific projects :
- Management of projects such as RIPA, HORIZON, and other migration projects.
- Increased responsibilities and the need to make important decisions*

Operational problems and administrative tasks
- Technical/operational problem resolution + Emergency management / escalation*
- Lack of automation (manual work) and IT systems support
- Increased administrative, bureaucratic and reporting burden
- Participation in committees and meetings deemed unnecessary

Turnover and training:
- High turnover rate and arrival of new employees requiring training.
- Lack of seniority and skills in teams.

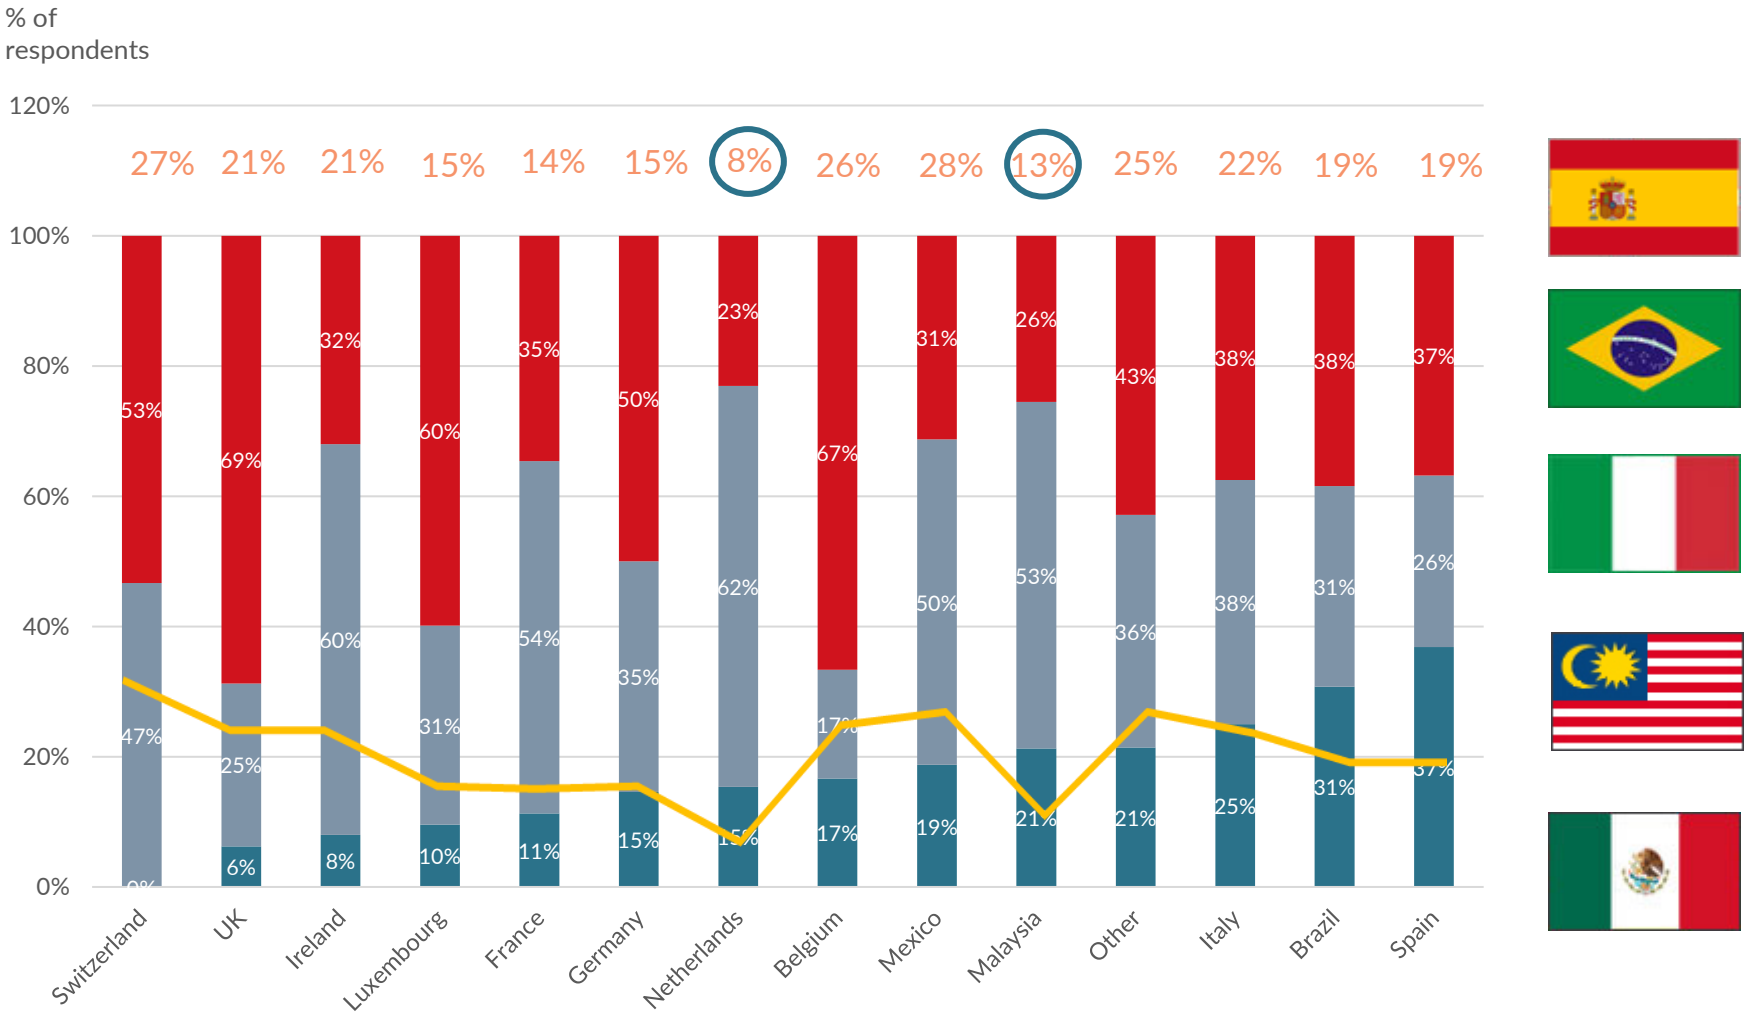
Expertise and complexity of tasks:
- Complexity of tasks and processes requiring increased attention
- Importance of technical expertise and direct input from managers

Communication problems:
- Communication/coordination problems with other teams or departments*

Micro-Management / Lack of autonomy:
- Need for approvals and strict guidelines.

However should be considered as managerial tasks*

Time breakdown per country : better scores for Latin countries and Malaysia regarding the target and better score for countries with large span of control



Leadership characteristics by country* :

- Strong leadership highly valued
- Slow decision-making- reserved for the highest strata + taken with team approval
- Importance of relations/empathy

- Importance of a trusted relationship
- Need for evidence of consideration

- Consultative decision-making process even if the final decision rests with the executive
- Managers appreciate improvisation, quick thinking and creativity

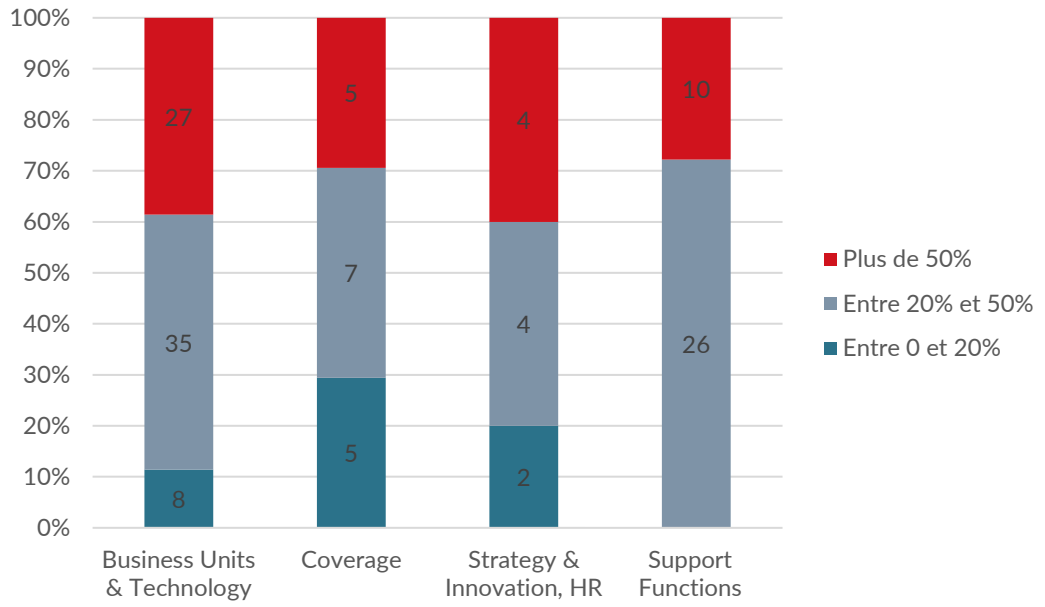
- Management quite authoritarian (concentrated power)
- Summit decision-making with prior consultation
- Little opposition to hierarchy (obedience)
- Importance of the individual/harmony (respect)

- Rather paternalistic and authoritarian management
- Reluctance to delegate or share power.
- Protective role that must encourage its teams

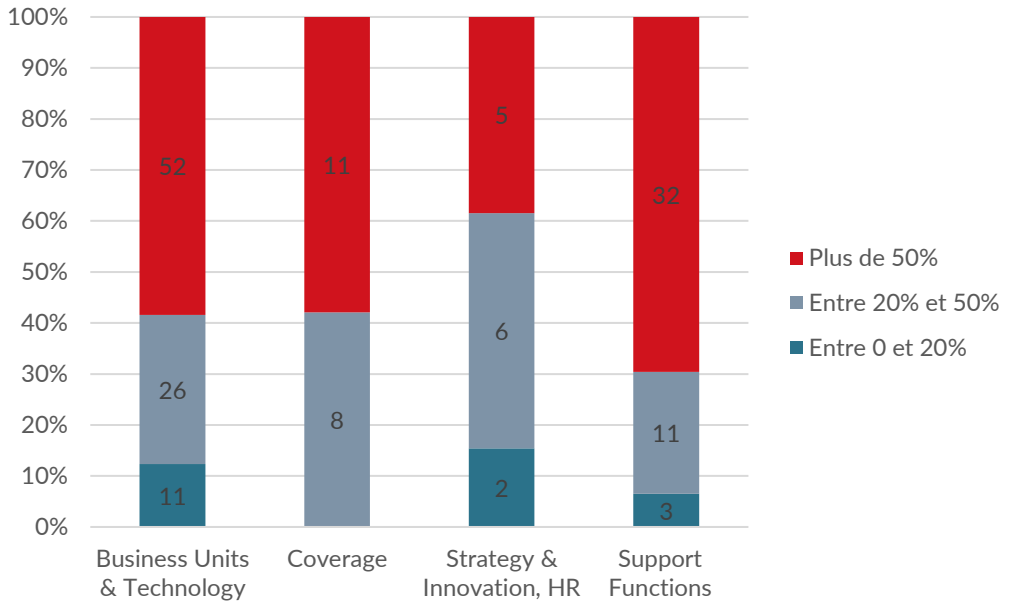
Source: Akteos

FOCUS FRANCE & LUX : time dedicated to operational tasks per BL

Focus France per BL

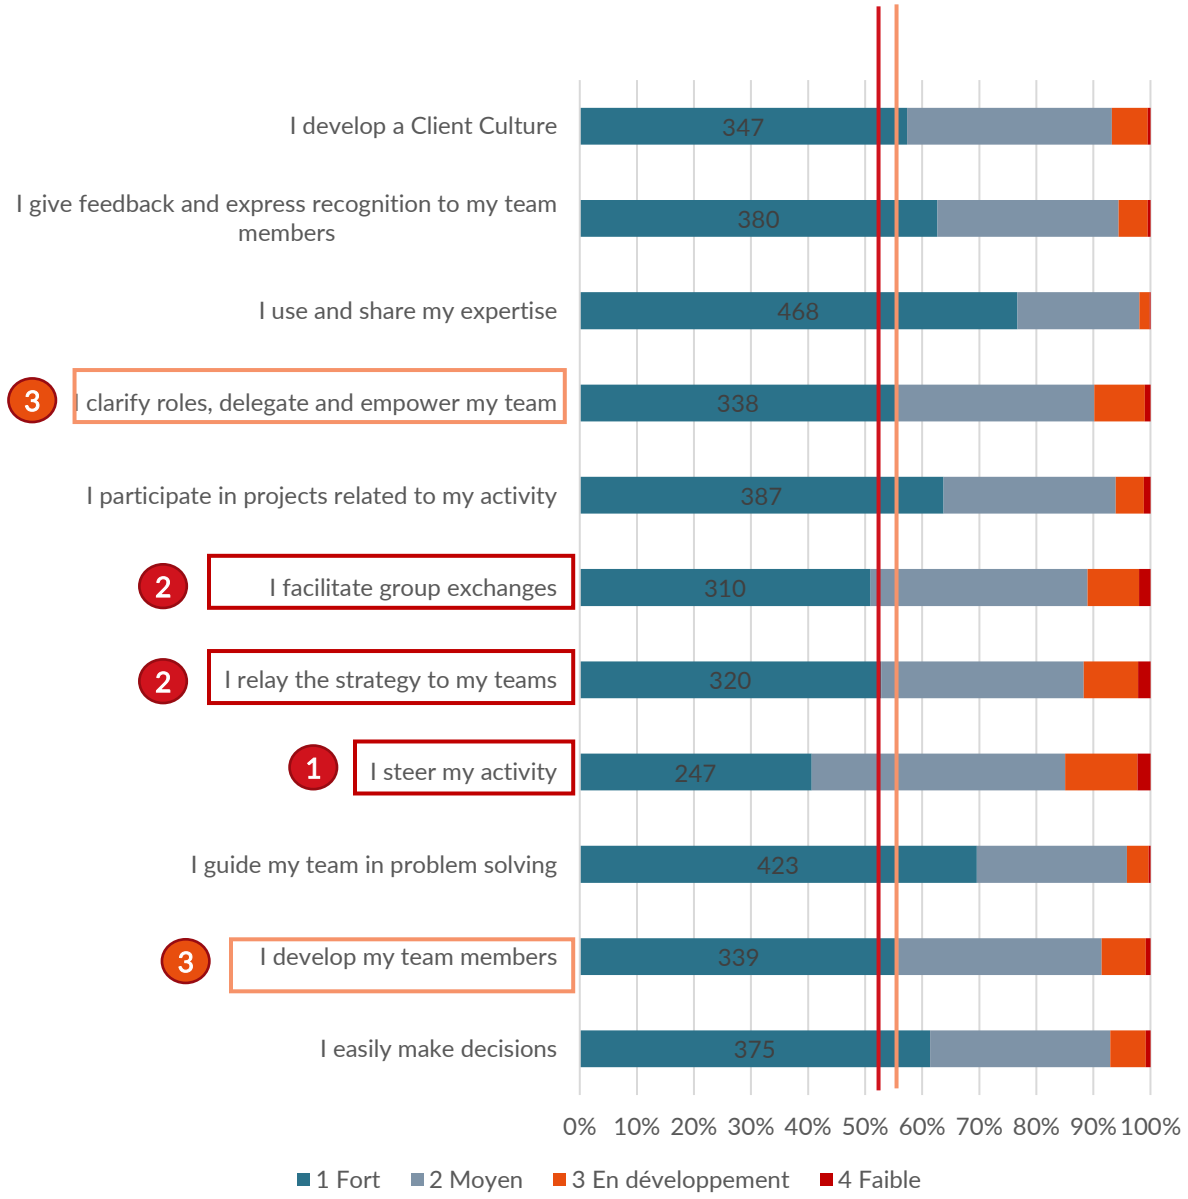


Focus Luxembourg per BL



Information disclosed for other countries for confidentiality reasons

Comfortability with management practices



COMFORTABLE WITH:

Development and motivation of teams:
- Guiding employees in problem solving
- Mobilise and motivate teams around common objectives
- Transmit knowledge and organise tasks

Feedback and transparency
- Provide positive feedback and recognise successes.
- Communicate clearly and transparently with teams.

Project management and operational activities:
- Manage projects and manage day-to-day activities
- Decision-making on Day-to-Day activities
- Customer relationship management and complaint resolution

NOT COMFORTABLE WITH:

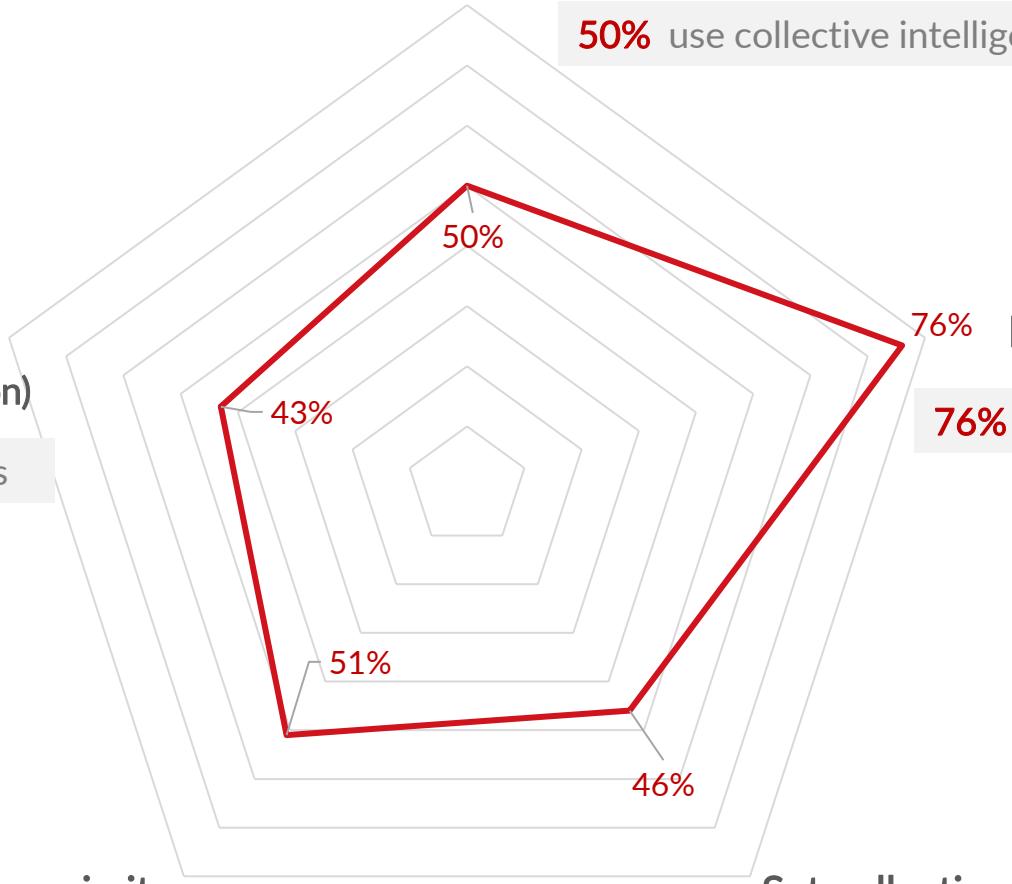
Delegation and accountability:
- Delegate complex tasks without compromising production
- Delegating Responsibilities in an Understaffing Environment
- Allocate time to employee training

Conflict and interpersonal management:
- Manage conflicts between team members.
- Maintain team motivation in a context of high turnover

Technical and historical aspects:
- Understand the historical context of past decisions.
- Manage the multiplicity and technicality of certain projects.

Communication with the hierarchy:
- Share sensitive topics / unpopular decisions with top management

CACEIS Managers' practices (quite aligned with their level of comfort)



Collective Intelligence

50% use collective intelligence more than twice a year

Feedback

76% daily or regularly give feedback

Role clarification (with delegation)

43% efficiently clarify roles with their teams

Team proximity

51% set regular meeting with their team and each member

Set collective goals

46% set collective goals with monthly follow-up

CACEIS Managers' practices (quite aligned with their level of comfortability)

Collective Intelligence

50% use collective intelligence more than twice a year
- 50% very comfortable with facilitating group exchanges

Role clarification (with delegation)

43% efficiently clarify roles with their teams
- 55% very comfortable with clarifying roles for their team (not only MCts)

Feedback

76% daily or regularly give feedback
- 62% very comfortable with giving feedback

Team proximity

51% set regular meeting with their team and each member
- 56% very comfortable with developing their teams

Set collective goals

46% set collective goals with monthly follow-up
- 41% very comfortable with steering the activty (icluding setting goals)

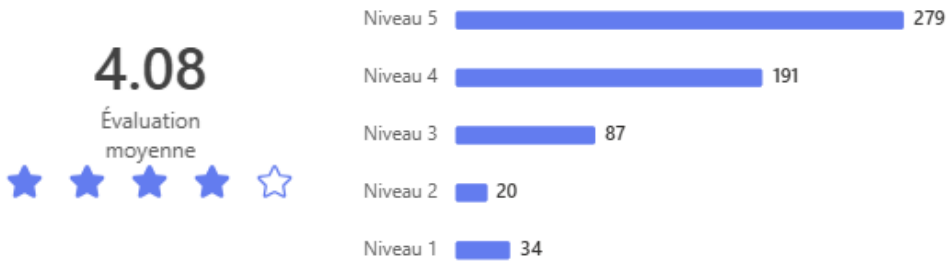
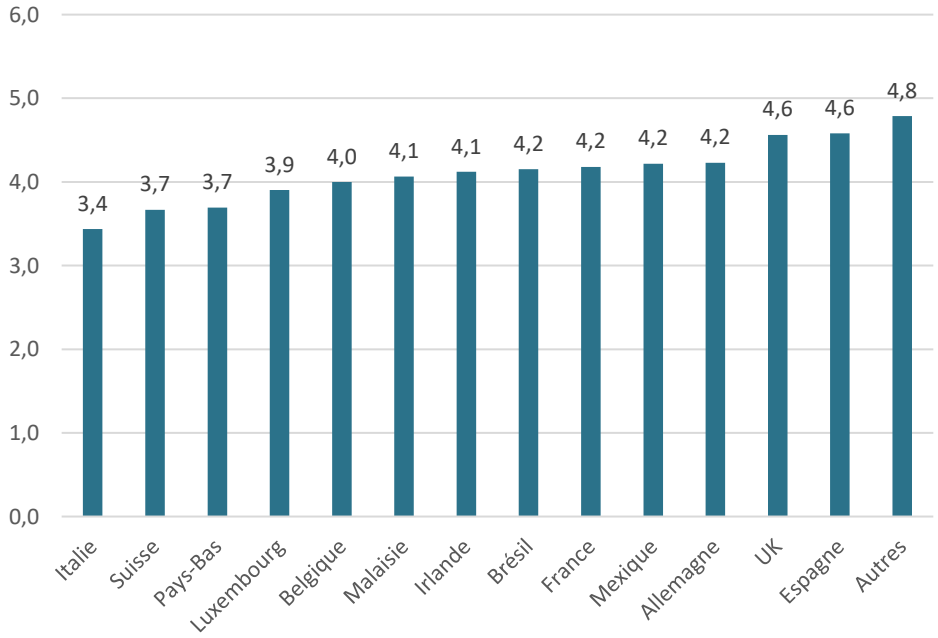
Alignement with N+1



My managerial relation :
+4pts vs Group Level (85 pts)



Micro-Management issues:
- Complain about the micro-management which creates frustration and limits their autonomy.

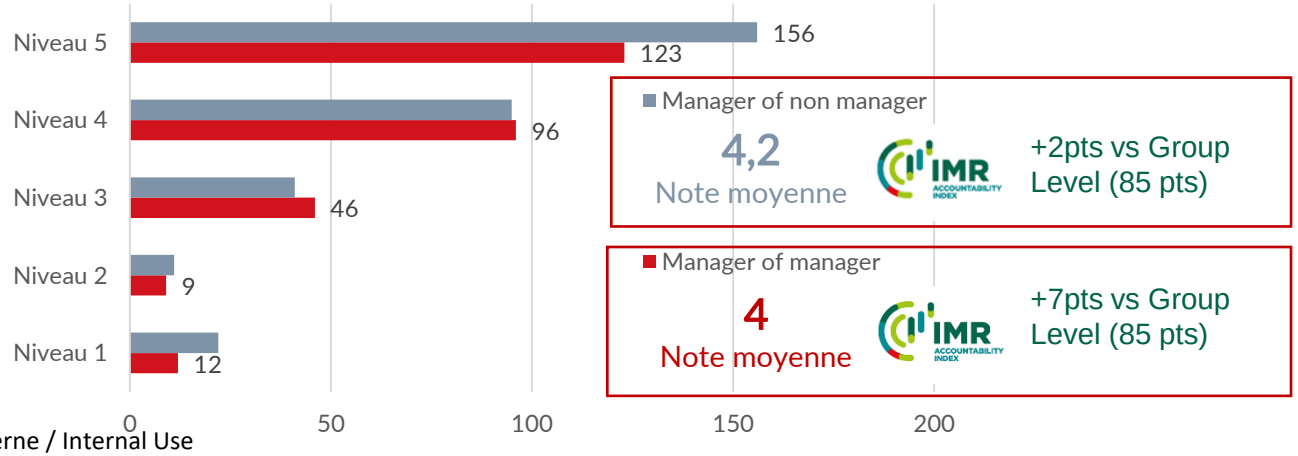
Lack of Support and collaboration:
- Feeling lack of support and collaboration and sometimes feeling like mere implementers.

Lack of monitoring and communication:
- Lack of regular follow-up points with superiors, which makes it difficult to collaborate and delegate effectively.

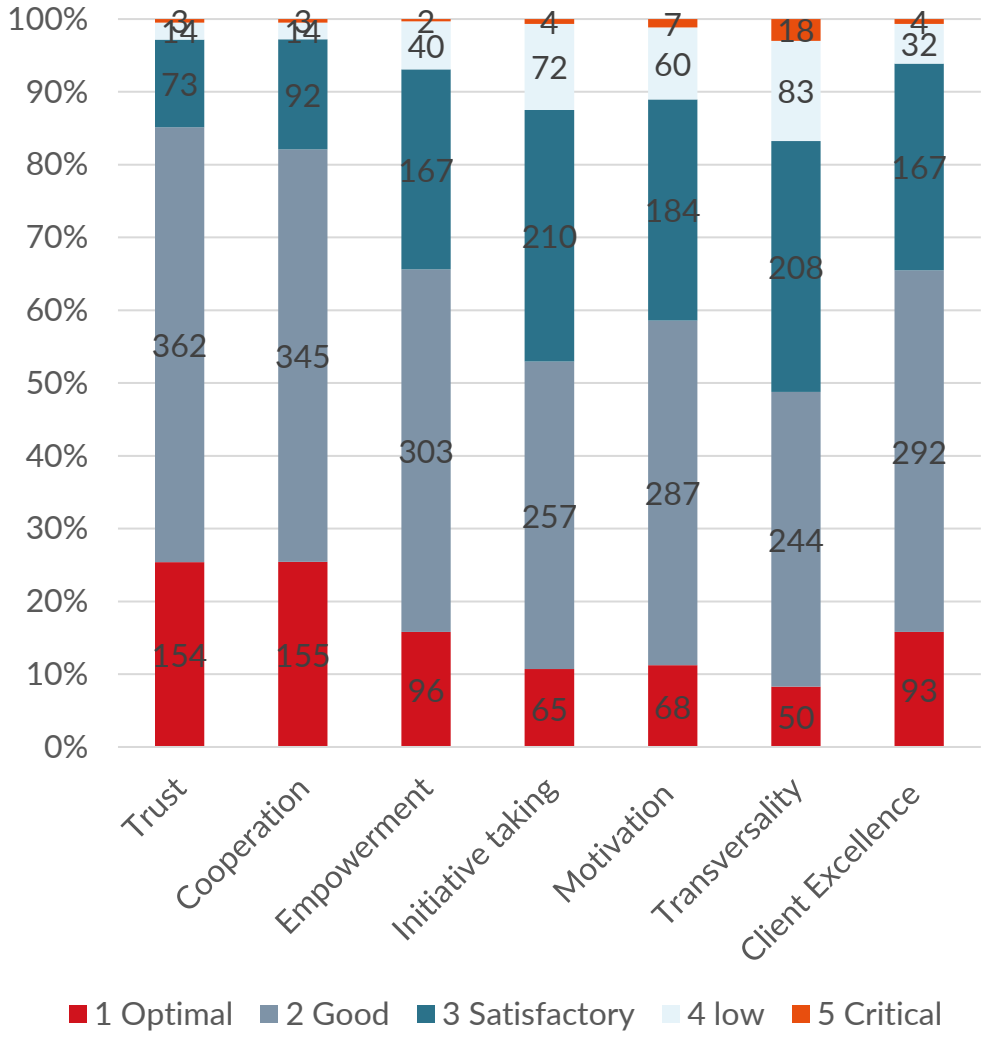
Budget and resource Issues:
- Insufficient resources allocated for implementing projects limiting their ability to delegate and hold teams accountable.

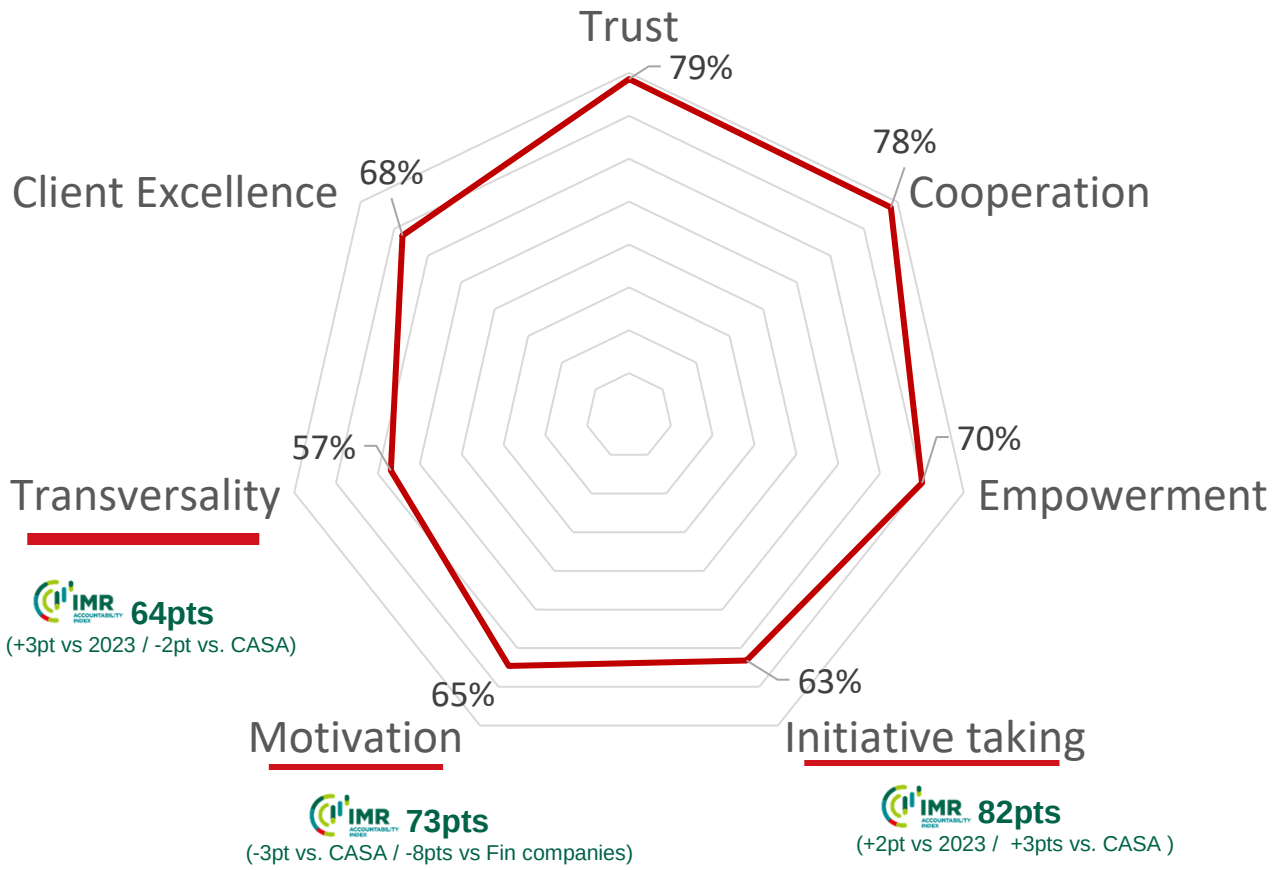
Alignment and divergence of approaches:
- Some differences in approaches regarding the authority and trust placed in team members.

Workload and priorities:
- High workload and conflicting priorities making it difficult to delegate and empower teams.



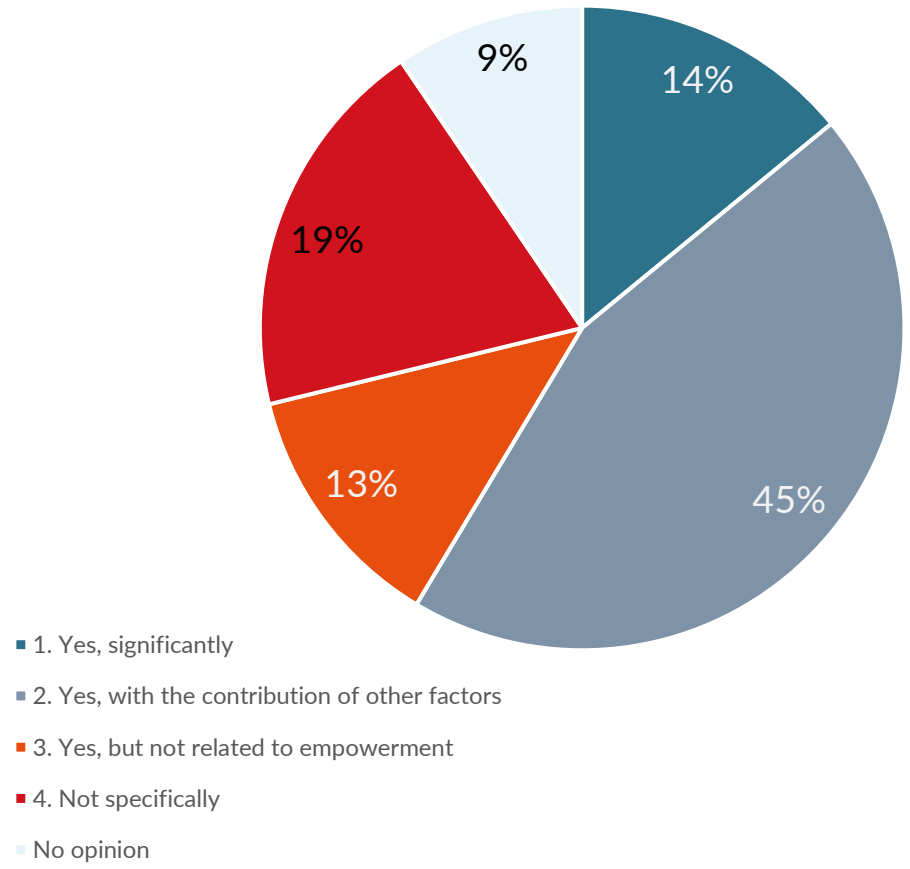
Employees' empowerment (managers'perception)



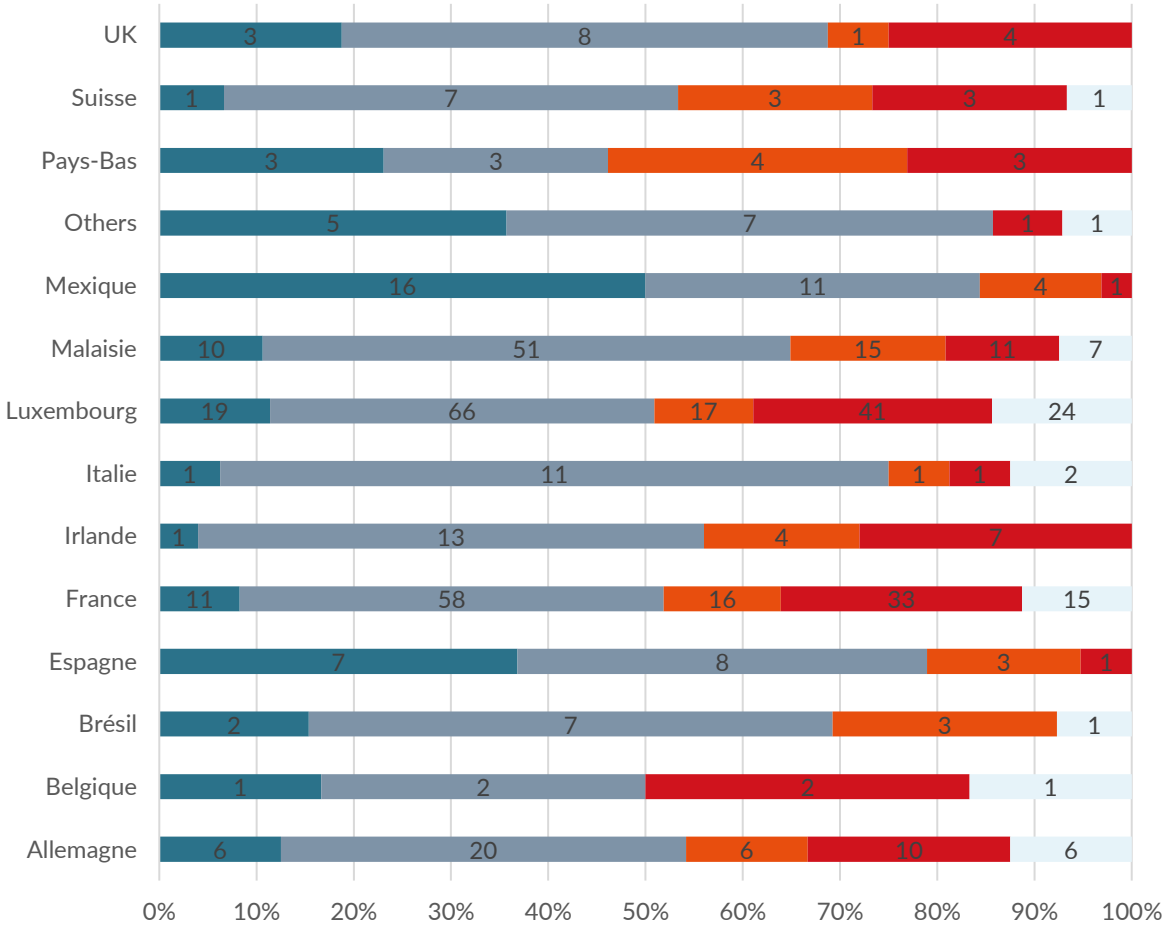


A noted improvement of the client satisfaction not essentially due to empowerment

Group results



Results per country



Needs expressed by the managers to develop empowerment

Resources and Capacity:

- Increase in staff: Many managers mention the need to increase staff to cope with the workload and allow better delegation.
  - Example: "Due to the devastating capacity issues in my team, we have little room to do anything but react. This is no way to empower employees!"

Training and Development:

- Continuing training: Managers stress the importance of continuing training to develop employees' skills.
- Coaching and HR support: It is suggested to involve HR more in coaching and development of employees.
  - Example: "This answer below: more involvement of HR (partner mode) in order to reinforce the daily messages of the manager."

Clarity and Organisation:

- Clear definition of roles: Managers call for clearer definition of roles and responsibilities to avoid grey areas and improve collaboration.
  - Example: "Define a clear and defined organisation, with precise names of the members belonging to each team."

Management support:

- Reduction of micro-management: It is recommended that line managers reduce micro-management to allow managers to make autonomous decisions.
  - Example: "Make sure that the N1+ is aware that micro management is not the way to go."

Recognition and motivation:

- Financial recognition: Financial recognition is mentioned as an important lever to motivate employees and enhance their efforts.
  - Example: "Also give them financial recognition in line with their new responsibilities."

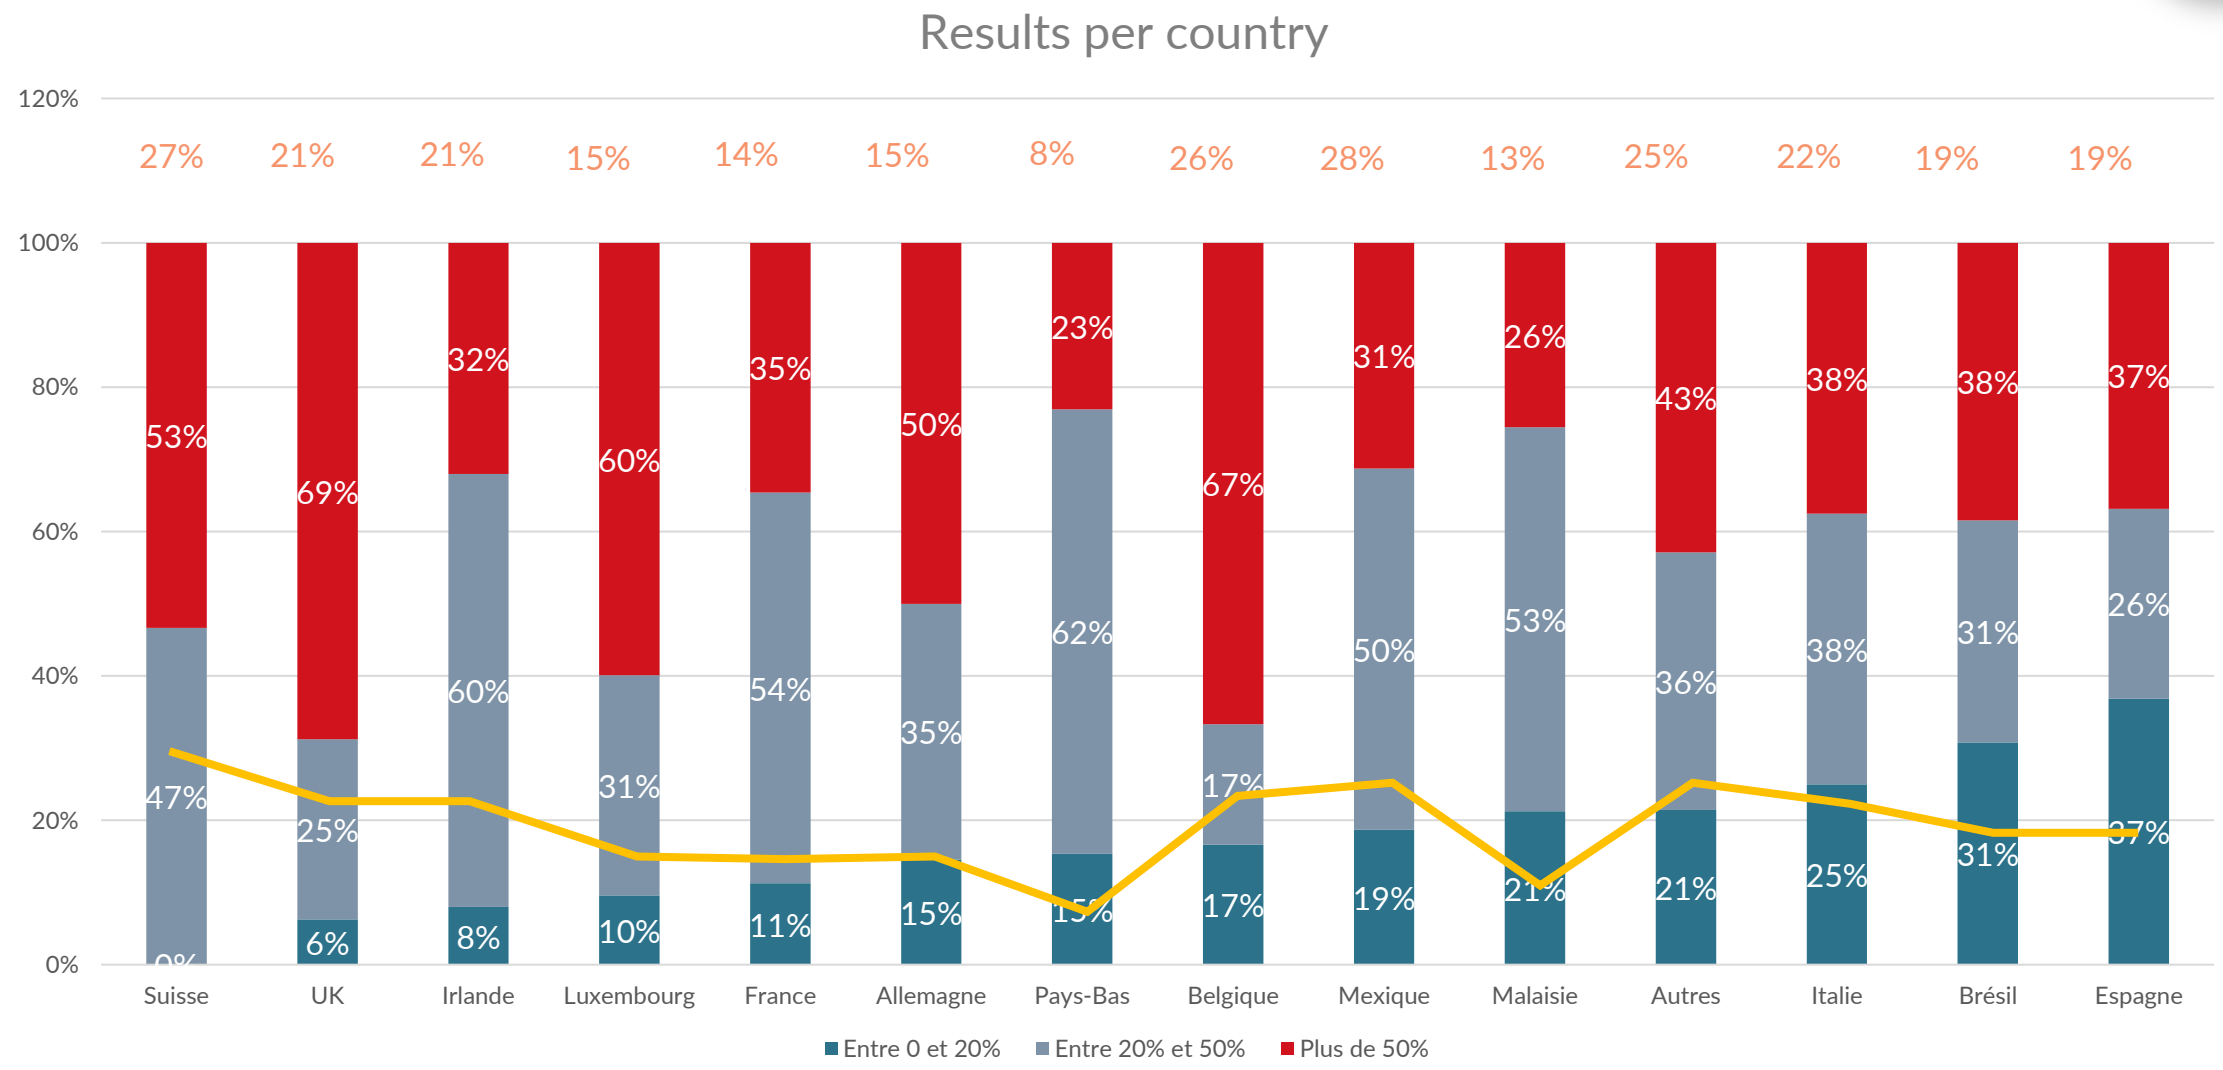
Improving Processes and Tools:

- Simplifying processes: Managers suggest simplifying bureaucratic processes to allow employees to focus on value-added tasks.
- Suitable tools: It is recommended to provide suitable and effective tools to facilitate the work of the teams and improve their productivity.
  - Example: "The resources given for implementation remain very limited by budgets that do not follow."

APPENDICES

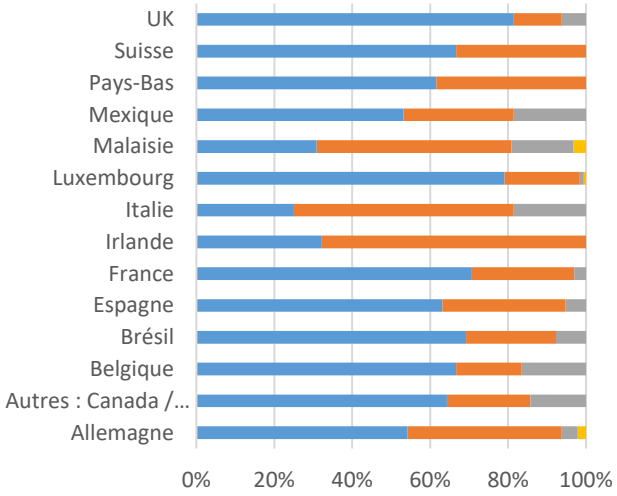
caceis
INVESTOR SERVICES

83% of the managers dedicate more than 20% to tasks not related to management

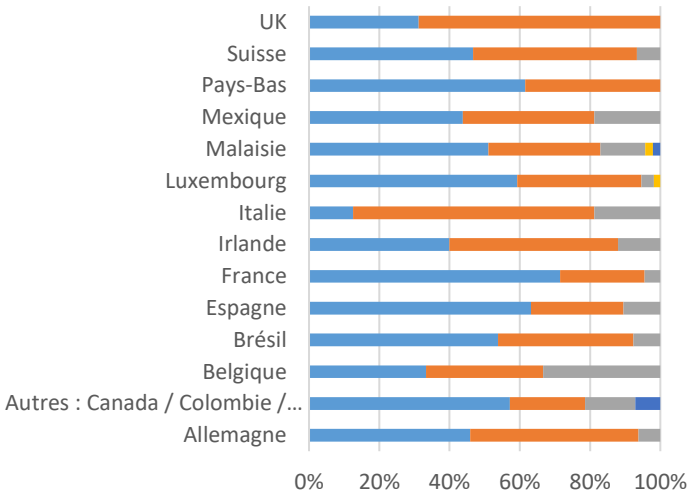


Comfortability with management practices

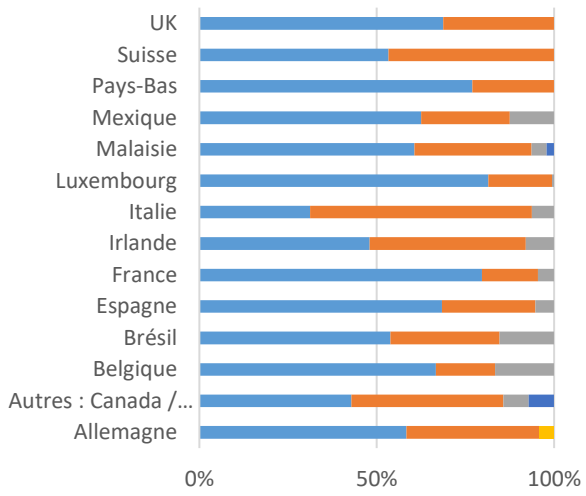
Je prends facilement des décisions



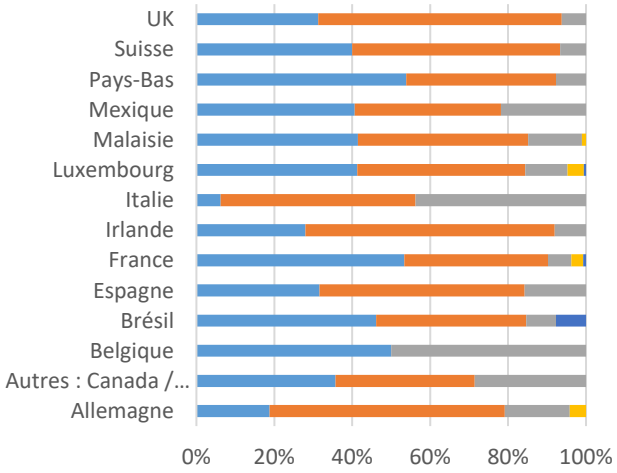
Je développe mon équipe



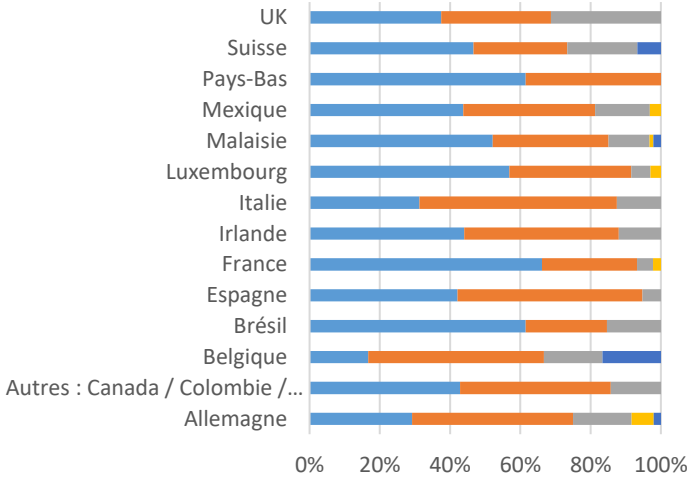
Je guide mon équipe



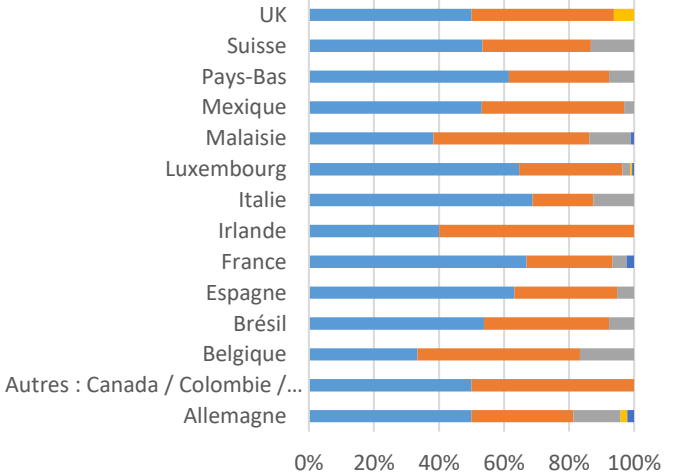
Je pilote mon activité



Je relaye la stratégie



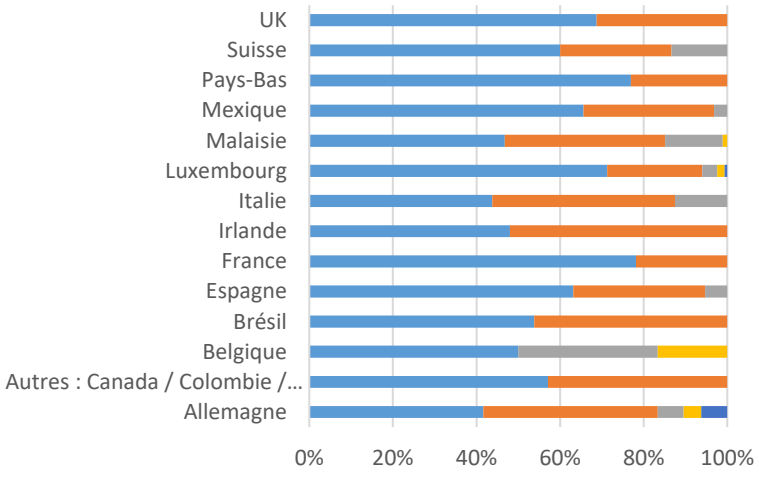
J'anime le collectif



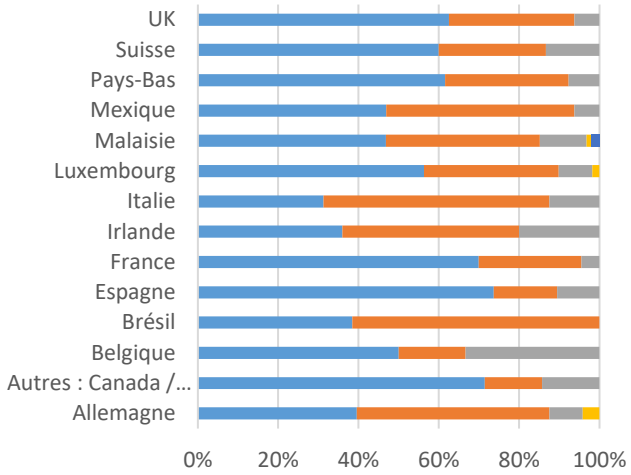
- 1 Fort
- 2 Moyen
- 3 En développement
- 4 Faible
- 5 5 N/A

Comfortability with management practices

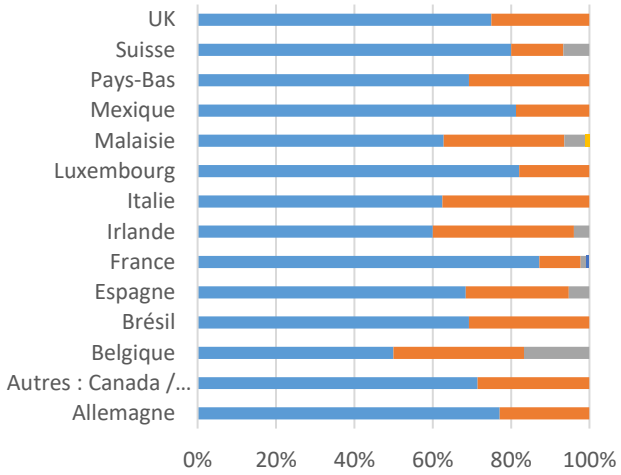
Je participe aux projets



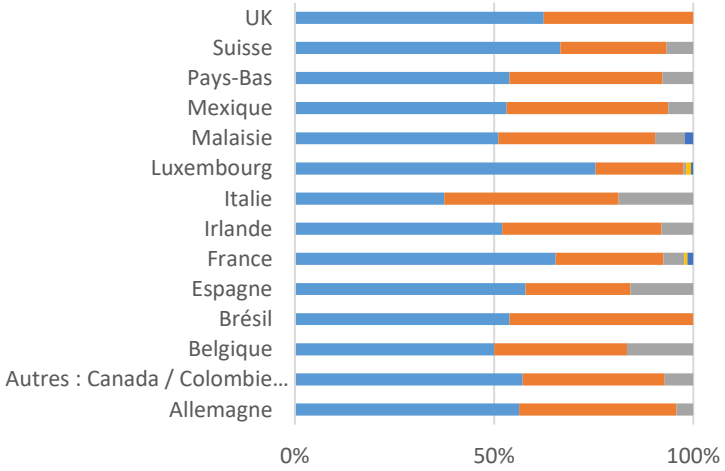
Je clarifie les rôles



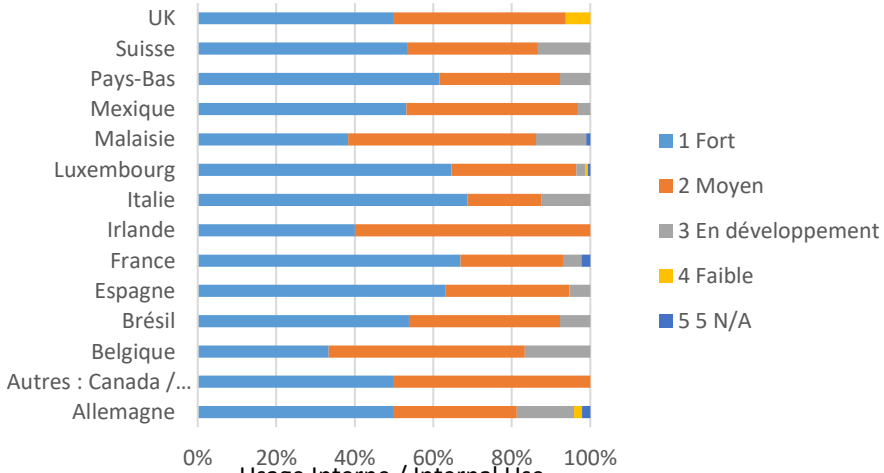
J'utilise et partage mon expertise



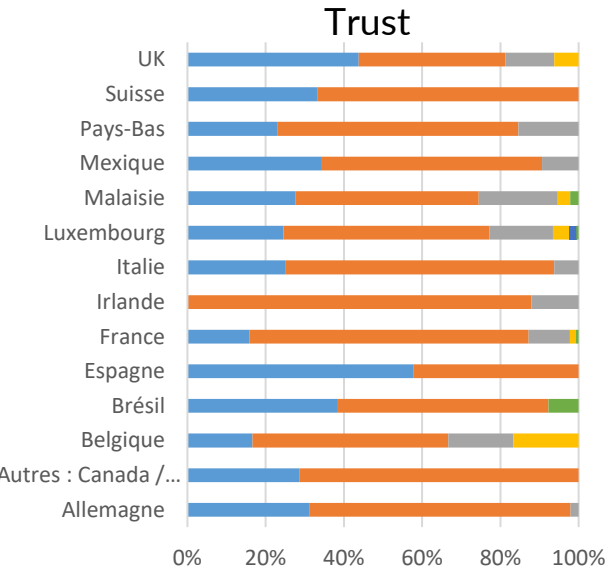
Je donne du feedback et montre ma reconnaissance à mes N-1

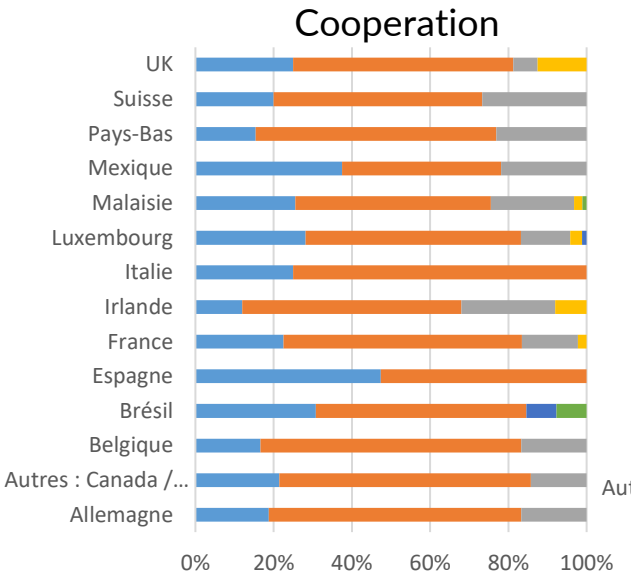


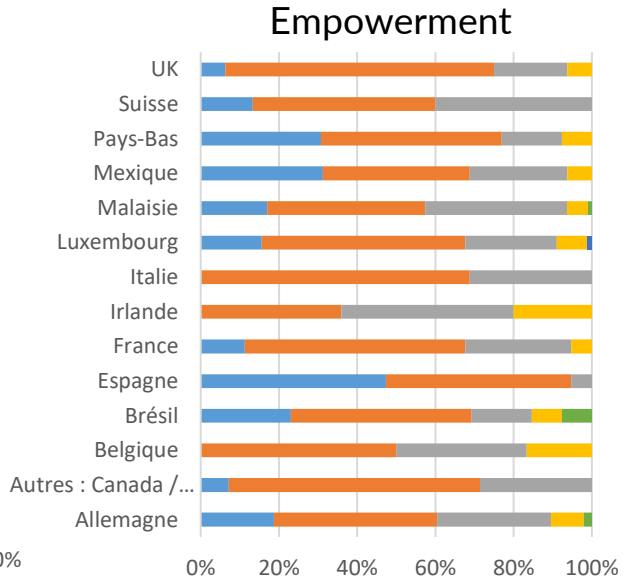
Je clarifie les rôles

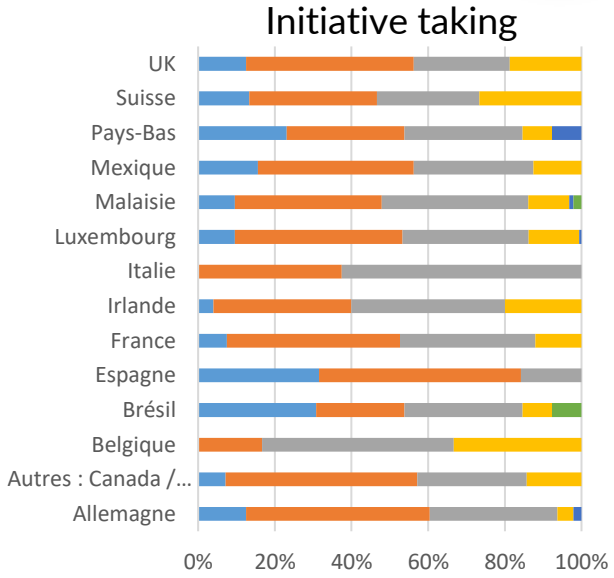


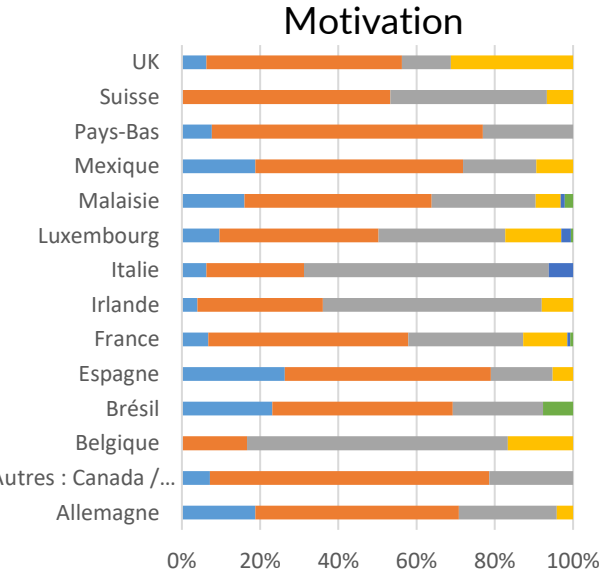
Evluation of teams empowerment

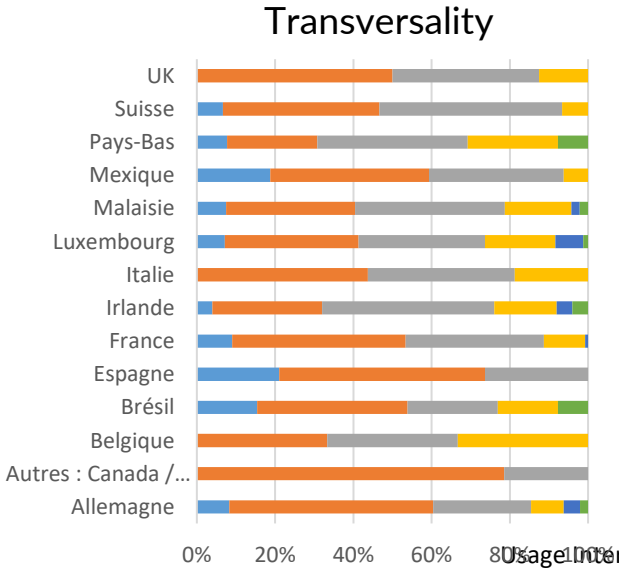


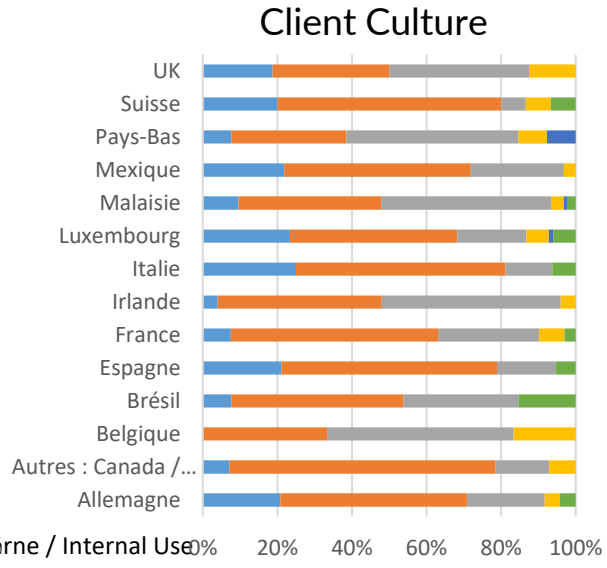












- 1 Optimale
- 2 Bonne
- 3 Satisfaisante
- 4 Faible
- 5 Critique
- 6 Sans opinion